She's coming

DONNA returns!

This week we've got exciting news about the Tenth Doctor's final episodes! And it's a bit of a shock, as it involves someone we thought could never return – Donna!

The Doctor was forced to remove Donna's time-travelling memories after she became half-Time Lord – and now she no longer remembers who he is. Poor thing.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Doctor told Donna's grandad that if she remembers her time as his companion it could kill her. Be careful, Donna!

Whenever the Doctor visits a school, he finds monsters lurking in the shadows. So far, we've seen invasions of Daleks and killer Scarecrows, not to mention Krillitane and Slitheen disguised as teachers! It's enough to put you off your school dinners...

The Krillitane were ugly-looking aliens who could make themselves look human.

SKASIS PARADIGM

The Krillitane were using the children to solve the Skasis Paradigm, a kind of code which would give the creatures power over the universe!

Like the Krillitane, the gassy Slitheen also disguised themselves as teachers and built a huge machine in the school technology block, with the power to turn off the Sun. Luckily, Sarah Jane and her friends stopped them!

This week's INTERVIEW

MEET THE DALEK MEN

We lift the lids of two Daleks to talk to their operators, Barnaby Edwards and Nicholas Pegg!

DO YOU REALISE YOU HAVE ONE OF THE COOLEST JOBS EVER?

DALEK BARNABY: "Of course! I grew up watching Doctor Who and I think if you'd told my eight-year-old self that one day he'd grow up to play a Dalek, he'd have evaporated on the spot!"

DALEK NICHOLAS: "I think we all feel like that. Yes, it's a pretty cool job, isn't it?"

Dalek
Barnaby

Dalek
Nicholas

WHAT IS IT LIKE INSIDE A DALEK? IS THERE MUCH ROOM IN THERE?

BARNABY: "It's incredibly cramped! It's airless, too hot or too cold, and you can only see through an envelope-sized grille in front of you. You also have a stocking over your head to prevent the cameras picking up reflections from your eyeballs."

NICHOLAS: "There's a little seat to sit on, and there are handles to control the antennae, and there are switches to operate the blue light in the Dalek's eye and the other electrics."

INTERVIEW BY ANDREW LAMBE

DO YOU EVER BUMP INTO THINGS?

BARNABY: "You learn to feel where objects and actors are, without being able to see them! Dalek operators can only see what's directly in front of them."

NICHOLAS: "Gliding through doorways can be a challenge, because you can't see the floor from inside, and of course, the widest part of a Dalek is the base. Usually we manage to glide through on the first attempt, but not always."

WHAT BITS DO YOU CONTROL?

BARNABY: "Two of the Daleks are operated remotely by someone else, but those are the only bits not controlled by the chaps inside. A Dalek is moved by leg power alone."

BARNABY: "Handles inside control the gun, the plunger and the eye-stalk, so there are times when it would be easier to have three hands! There are three castors, rather like the wheels on a shopping trolley."

Supreme shade!

There's not much room!

WHAT HAS BEEN THE MOST DIFFICULT SCENE TO FILM SO FAR?

BARNABY: "The street scenes in The Stolen Earth and Journey's End. We had uneven Tarmac, rain and below-freezing temperatures. It was all worth it, though!"

NICHOLAS: "A scene where I was spinning around and I had to get myself into exactly the right position to be kicked away by John Barrowman. We rehearsed it several times and I was quite dizzy by the end of that!"

IF YOU COULD INVENT A NEW ATTACHMENT FOR A DALEK, WHAT WOULD IT BE?

BARNABY: "Parking sensors."

NICHOLAS: "A big, fluffy tickling stick."

TURN OVER FOR MORE INSIDE INFO!

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW!

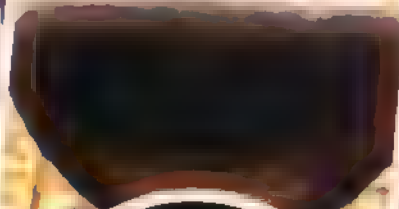

This week's INTERVIEW

WHAT IS YOUR FAVOURITE DALEK MOMENT IN DOCTOR WHO?

BARNABY: "I love it when the Daleks appear from the Void Ship at the end of Army of Ghosts. It's a wonderful moment because you're really not expecting them."

NKHOLAS: "I love the bit in The Parting of the Ways when a Dalek appears in the observation window outside the space station. You just see its lights flashing in silence, but you know it's saying 'Exterminate!'"

IF YOU COULD BE SOMETHING ELSE IN DOCTOR WHO, WHAT WOULD IT BE?

BARNABY: "A Zygon. I can do the voice and everything!"

NKHOLAS: "A Sontaran. I've got the bald head!"

THE SPARKLING PLANET

Right, Wolfgang.
I don't much like the sound of those engines, though.
Something's wrong.

Script STEVE LYONS
Art JOHN ROSS
Colours ALAN CRADDOCK

There's all sorts of junk down here. The owner of this ship must be an importer. Or a scavenger.

Do you hear that noise, Heather? Somebody - or something - moving, behind these crates.

What... Where did you come from?
What are you doing
on my freighter?

Never mind that now. I'm the Doctor - and this freighter is tearing itself apart. Talk to me, Mr...?

McKendrick. My name's McKendrick. And my ship... It's caught in the gravity of that planet. I can't pull free!

No wonder. That's Adamas down there! It's supposed to be off limits to space travellers - and with good reason!

Whoah! It's some kind of diamond monster, and it looks like it's trapped.

Not for much longer, Wolfgang. It's
breaking out!

Moments later...

Doctor, help!
We're being chased by—

Don't tell me, I can guess. It looks like our new friend McKendrick here picked the wrong type of diamond to smuggle.

VEEP!

VEEP!

A living one!

I... I thought the stasis field would hold it. My laser beams are bouncing off its diamond hide. How do we stop that thing?

It's slow, but it's strong. If that punch had connected with my head.

KRUMP!

Hang on, Wolfgang. It must be from Adamas, and the Adamasiens live underground, in diamond mines...

So, their eyes won't be used to the light. Nice one, Doctor. We can run while it's blinded. But, where to?

No wonder you can't break orbit, McKendrick.

The Adamasian is a part of its planet, and the planet doesn't want to let go. We have to get it off this ship!

No! That creature is worth a fortune in diamonds to me.

Even so, shortly...

My plan's working.
The others took cover while I lured
the Adamasian here,
into the airlock.

NOW, HEATHER!
Close the inner door, and open the airlock to space!

That's it! The Adamasian is being sucked out of the ship. Now, seal the airlock again - before I lose my grip on this magnetic clamp!

WHOOSH!!

But, outside the door...

What do you think you're doing, McKendrick? I have to get to those controls, or the Doctor will die!

Best for me if he does.
There's a pretty stiff penalty for breaking into Adamas, and he could report me for it.

I've got the laser,
Heather! Quick,
save the Doctor!

I... I don't think I can. He's losing his grip... It's too late!

The Doctor's been sucked out into space,
too. Even he can't last more than a few seconds out there!

We could still get him back. This freighter must have a tractor beam or something. But we need you to operate it for us.

Any reason why I should?

How about this one? That cargo hold of yours is full of all the junk you've picked up over the years.

Help us save the Doctor, or we'll smash the whole lot to pieces!

And so, one hurried use of a tractor beam later...

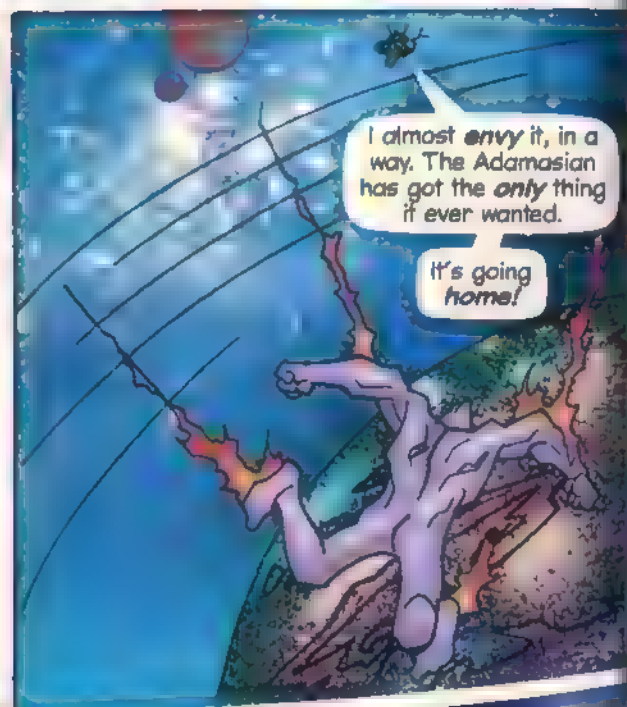

Th-thanks for the rescue. S-space is a nice place to visit, but it's too c-cold to live there!

With the Adamasian gone, we're flying free again. But the damage it caused, it'll cost me all the credits I have to repair it!

It's no more than McKendrick deserves, if you ask me. But what about the Adamasian, Doctor? It didn't ask for any of this!

You're right, Heather. But remember, we all saw how tough it was. I doubt even a fall from this height could do it much harm.

I almost envy it, in a way. The Adamasian has got the only thing it ever wanted.

It's going home!

SCHOOL SCARES!

Hello Time Agent,

As the new school term looms closer and closer (boo!), we've got one very important question to ask you - is your teacher an alien? As we know from The Sarah Jane Adventures and Doctor Who, some monsters are very good at disguising themselves as humans. So don't miss this week's scary schools fact file, or our quiz to find out if your teacher is really a stinky Slitheen or a howling Werewolf!

The big news this week is that Donna Noble is set to return in the Tenth Doctor's final adventures. The mystery is how? The last time we saw her, the Doctor wiped her mind and said that if she ever remembered their travels together it would kill her. But surely the Doctor would never let that happen to his best friend? We can't wait to see her back on screen!

This issue comes with a brilliant Planet of the Dead pencil case set!

Watch out, there are monsters about!

The DWA Team

DID YOU KNOW?

The men who sit inside the Daleks and move them about on set have to wear stockings over their heads so that the cameras don't pick up the reflections on their eyeballs! Read our exclusive interview with them in this week's issue!

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

For a chance to win prizes and help us make Doctor Who Adventures even better, join our new online reader panel and we'll send you some questions once a month. Log on to www.bbcmagazineinsiders.com and sign up today!
